

Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Friendship House opened its doors November 1, 1969, as a residential, extended care facility for alcoholics and/or other chemically addicted men and women who are trying to remain alcohol or drug free, and to establish or re-establish themselves in mainstream living; and,

WHEREAS, Maggie Mansfield was an employee of Friendship House, Inc. from September, 1976 until April, 1987; and,

WHEREAS, During this time, Maggie was a dedicated employee and served as a positive role model to all the hundreds of men and women who were residents of Friendship House and came in contact with her during the time of her employment; and,

WHEREAS, Maggie showed a supreme effort in helping these men and women to get their lives back in order and in helping them re-enter the mainstream of society; and,

WHEREAS, Maggie has been a positive force in the field of chemical dependency treatment and especially in the area of transitional care facilities in the state and in the region; and,

WHEREAS, It is fitting and proper for the Governor to make note of one of its outstanding citizens:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE S. MICKELSON, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim May 21, 1987, as

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Governor's Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Twentieth Day of May, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Seven

GEORGE S. MICKELSON, GOVERNOR

ATTEST:

THOMAS G. JACKSON, DEPUTY SECRETARY OF STATE
